

This market will resolve to "Something" if any of the following conditions are met between market creation and December 31, 2026, 11:59 PM ET:

- Obama federally charged
- Obama arrested
- Obama divorce

Otherwise, this market will resolve to "Nothing".

1. Obama federally charged

This market will resolve to "Something" if the United States federal government formally charges or announces a criminal indictment of Barack Obama during this market's above-specified time frame.

For the purposes of this market the District of Columbia and any county, municipality, or other subdivision of a State shall be included within the definition of a State.

The primary resolution source for this market will be official information from US governmental sources, however a wide consensus of credible reporting will also be used.

2. Obama arrested

This market will resolve to "Something" if Barack Obama is arrested during this market's above-specified time frame.

A qualifying arrest/detention includes:

- * Being taken into physical custody by law enforcement authorities (including federal, state, local, military, or international law enforcement)
- * Voluntarily surrendering to law enforcement authorities in response to an arrest warrant
- * Being formally booked or processed following detention
- * Being handcuffed by a state authority and taken to a police station
- * Surrendering at a police station or courthouse with their attorney
- * Being placed under house arrest or electronic monitoring

The following scenarios will NOT qualify as an arrest/detention

- * An arrest warrant being issued but not executed
- * Being briefly detained but not arrested (e.g. such as in the South Korean judicial system when an individual is awaiting a judge's decision on whether to grant a detention warrant)
- * Being questioned or interviewed without arrest
- * Being named in an indictment without arrest

The primary resolution source for this market will be official information from the arresting government and law enforcement, however a consensus of credible reporting may also be used.

3. Obama divorce

This market will resolve to "Something" if Barack Obama and/or Michelle Obama announce their intention to divorce during this market's above-specified time frame.

An announcement by the specified date of their intention to divorce will be sufficient for a "Something" resolution, regardless of whether the divorce later actually occurs, or whether the actual divorce occurs outside of the timeframe of this market.

The resolution source will be statements from Barack Obama and/or Michelle Obama, and their representatives, however a definitive consensus of credible media reporting may be considered.